SUBJECT: Political Activity of CIA Personnel

1. This being a presidential election year, all CIA personnel should bear in mind the provisions of the Hatch Act restricting political activity by employees of the executive branch of the Federal Government. This Notice is issued as a guide to the more important provisions of the Act giving a brief reference to those activities which are permitted and those specifically prohibited.

2. Since this Notice is not intended as a complete statement of the Act or its interpretations it is possible that guidance will be necessary in specific cases. If there is any question in the employee's mind regarding contemplated political activity, verification that his residence is in an exempted municipality, or otherwise he should consult the Personnel Relations Branch. If that Office finds the case justifies such action they may refer the employee to the General Counsel's Office.

3. The penalty for violation of any of the provisions of the Hatch Act may be removal from Office.

4. In addition to the restrictions of the Hatch Act all employees of this Agency should bear in mind the Agency's special mission and nonpolitical character. It would therefore be inappropriate for any employee of this Agency to make a partisan display of any kind.
